

John Bishop

video clips

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=d1NWQVMzsaQ>

John Bishop performed stand-up comedy for the first time in October 2000 and within four months he was the headline act. Until this year he worked in a lucrative Marketing job during the day and spent his nights moonlighting in the world of Comedy. Now he has finally taken that long-awaited leap of faith, handed in his notice, and become a full-time stand-up. His engaging brand of observational humour mines his varied and colourful life experience - from fatherhood to cycling around the world, from a successful career in the corporate sector to playing semi-professional football. John is currently one of the comedy circuit's most popular headliners and is a much sought after and accomplished after dinner speaker.

Credits

TV

- How To Survive (BBC Choice)
- The Panel TV Show (RTE)
- The Liffey Laughs (RTE)

Radio

- At The Store (BBC Radio 4)
- The Bishop's Sunday Service (RadioCity)

Stage

- Stick Your Job Up Your Arse

Awards

Won

- 2001 City Life - North West Comedian of The Year

Nominated

- 2001 Channel 4's - So You Think Your Funny
- 2001 Daily Telegraph's - Open Mic
- 2001 BBC - New Comedy Awards
- 2001 Mercury Comedy Awards at the Leicester Comedy Festival

Current Projects

- 2008 UK Tour The Bishop's Sunday Service - RadioCity

"A heart-warming tale... filled with joyous observations." Sunday Times

"If you fail to laugh like a lunatic, check yourself into a mortuary: You are probably dead." Metro

"Bishop is a born storyteller... pharmaceuticals marketing's loss is comedy's gain." Independent on Sunday